THE BODY CARRIED TO THE MARBLE CEMETERY AND THENCE ON SHIPBOARD.

It was a strange funeral procession that slowly made its way from the Arbemar's Hotel to the Marble Cemetry yesterday, but far more strange was the line of carriages, preceded by a truck, which rolled on the part of the French Line last night and stopped in front of the gangway of the stoamship Normandie. The remains of Schor Barca, the Spanish Minister, who killed himself on Sanday morange were starting on the first stages toward their linal resting-place in Span. One of the first callers on Schora Barca in the morning was an officer in full uniform from Governor's Island, who offered, in behalf of General Hancock, a battalion of marines to accompany the body of the dead kinister to the st-amship: shortly afterward Superintendent Walling offered a gnard of police, and before noon Colonel Baker, reoresuting Scheckery of War Lincolo, asked the liberty of detailing a company of United States soliders to act as an escort. Schor de Lôme declined each of the offers, saving that it was the widow's wish to have the funeral as quiet as possible. The morning was passed in receiving the cards of the visitors, and, on the part of Schor de Lôme, in attending to the business of the legation.

The only persons received by Schora Barca were the Hay in Minister. Schor Suarez. the Spanish Consul-General, and Mr. Frelinginy-en, son of the Secretary of State. She received their expressions of sympathy beside the coffin of her husband. Six floral designs representing wreaths, pillows and crowns were sent by the Consul-General, Schor de Lôme and the Marquis Popestado Fornary. On each of them, according to a Spanish custom, were the mains to the emerity was a short pracer by a Catholic priest. Señor de Lome said to a Tribune reporter that he nad not received any intelligence from any quarter which could explain Señor Barca's suicide. No evidence of his financial embarrassments had been received; but it it is shown that the dead Minister left debts behind him every claim will be thoroughly investigated before it is satisfied. Señor de Lome intended to take charge of Señor Barca's interests in this country until other lostructions were sent him by Señora Barca. INSURANCE NEWS AND INCIDENTS. The New-York Board of Fire Underwriters hel

The New-York Board of Fire Underwriters held another meeting yesterday to bestow further study on the problem of fire prevention in the dry-goods district. It was voted that the various precautionary measures which have been adopted at the several recent sessions of the Board should go into effect on November 1. All other matters before the Board, such as water-supply schemes and so forth, were disposed of by the unanimous adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That this Board recognize with gratification the interest manifested by the occupants of the dry-goods district, and by their able commutee of fifteen, in the desire and effort to dimnish the hazards of a graconflagration in that district by the improvement of the buildings therein, by the in-roduction of additional safe quarks and in securing an abundant supply of waier at an ample pressure for fire surposes. The month of July proved severe to most of the fire insurance companies. June was a light month in respect to fire loss, but the insurance companies, as a whole, lost much more by the severity of July than they made by the miliness of June. The average July fire loss in the United States is about $6,000,000, but the fire loss of the last month has considerably exceeded that amount. UNPROVOKED ASSAULT BY A POLICEMAN.

UNPROVOKED ASSAULT BY A POLICEMAN.

An unprovoked assault by a police officer occurred at the depot of the Long Island Railroad Company, Long Island City, yesterday afternoon. A young man, apparently about twenty years old, was standing near the express department, inoxicated but not violent. He seemed anxious to sit down and sleep. Special Officer Purtell, who is in the service of the railroad company, pushed him along the sidewalk. He moved toward the officer, when the latter brought his club down on the man's heid twice in succession. Blood spurted from a deep gash over his left temple, and for a tew moments he seemed unable to move. After Purtell had inflicted this injury on the man he took him to the station-house where he was locked up. He gave his name as Robert Mcinture, a conductor, who lives at No. 77 North Seventh-st. Brooklyn. O. R. Dennis, a pilot employed at the Hoboken Ferry, sa d the clubbing was unprovoked. "There was no necessity whatever for the officer to strike the man," he said. "He was somewhat under the influence of inquor, but he made no resistance. The policeman could easily have taken him to the station-house without using his cub."

FEWER DEATHS THIS YEAR THAN LAST. The physicians of the Summer Corps last week inspected 5,032 tenement-houses containing 20,646 families. They prescribed for 926 persons who wersick. Four of the patients died and forty-bour were found suffering from contagious diseases. The sanitary condition of most of the tenement-houses was reported as much better than had been expected. Comparatively little sickness was noticed in some of the districts which were most unhealthy last year. Dr. Nogle, of the Bureau of Vital Statistic, made a report yesterday, showing that lever deaths have occurred in the city in any month of the present year than in the corresponding month of the last two years. UNINFORMED ABOUT HIS COUSIN.

Robert Goelet was asked by a Tribune reporter yesterday if he had learned anything further in regard to the alleged daughter of his uncle, Peter Goelet, said to have recently been found in Indiana by a lawyer of this city. Mr. Goelet was not much more communicative than on the previous evening at the Union Club. He said that being "interviewed" was an annovance, but he declared "interviewed" was an annoyance, but he declared in a brief and forcible way that the story was the lowest kind of falsehood. "Why, the woman must be crazy," said he; "my uncle was never in Indi-ann."

"Where was your uncle during the period named from 1845 to 1847, when he was said to have been married in Indiana and to have lived there until the death of his wife?"
"He was in New York."
"How large an estate did your uncle leave?"

CANDIDATES FOR CONTROLLER.

NO LACK OF MATERIAL TO CHOOSE FROM MEN WHO ARE PRESSED FOR THE OFFICE-JOHN KELLY ON THE MAYOR'S PURPOSE.

MEN WHO ARE PRESSED FOR THE OFFICE—JOHN KELLY ON THE MAYOR'S PURPOSE.

The Mayor took no action yesterday in regard to appointing a successor to Controller Campbell, whose term of office expires to-day. He will probably designate Deputy Controller Storrs to act as Controller until the office is filled. It is the opinion of those who are conversant with the Mayor's views that he will not bill the vacancy for several days yet. He has ten days in which to consider the matter. Meantime the pressure on him on the part of candidates and their friends continues to grow stronger. F. P. Olcott, formerly Stare Controller, who was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1879, has been brought forward by Commissioner Thompson, Police Justice Power and other leaders of the County Democracy. The strong objection to him is that he is affiliated with the Tilden wing of the Democracy and therefore would be objectionable to Tammany Hall. Ex-Alderman Charles H. Marshall is another aspirant. He was a member of frving Hall when it was control ed by Hubert O. Thompson, Edward Cooper, Maurice J. Powerland Thomas Costigan. E. K. Livermore, who was recommended for the place by Alexander E. Orr, is a partner of David Dows. He would not be objectionable to the County Democracy. Arthur Leary is a director in the Manhattan Railway Company, the treasurer of the Tammany Sciety, and has a strong social and political backing. Hervey C. Calkim, is a member of the firm of H, C. & J. H. Calkim, shin chandlers, coppersmiths and plumbers, at No. 256 West-st. He was elected a member of Congress in 1870 and has been for some time a member of the Tammany General Committee. He is a warm friend of Charles Welde, and when there was talk of "disciplining" the latter, it was understood that Messrs. Welde and Calkin would have gone over to the County Democracy carp had the threat of "disciplining" the latter, it was understood that Messrs. Welde and Calkin would have gone over to the County Democracy carp had the threat of "disciplining" b racy.

The Mayor is not willing to appoint any one in the interest of a political faction. He holds that the interest of a political faction. He holds that the place is purely a business one, and that political should have nothing to do with it. The County Democracy leaders are exceedingly anxious to have Democracy leaders are exceedingly anxions to have a sympathizer in the place on account of the fact that the Controller is a member of the Aqueduct Commission. They know that there will be a great deal of patronage connected with that work, and naturally they wish to strengthen their organization by having as large a representation as possible on the Commission. The Mayor has said that he does not wish politics to enter into the Commission, and two at least of the members—William Dowd and George W. Lane—are of the same way of thinking.

The Mayor said vesterday: "When the news Dapers and politicians get through appointing Controller I may have something to say in the

John Kelly was with the Mayor for nearly an hour. It was at once rumored that the Mayor had tendered him the position of Controller. It has already been announced in The IRBUNE that Mr. Kelly had declared that he would not take this or any other public office. He has not changed his mind. Later in the day Mr. Kelly said: "I was not tendered the position of Controller by the Mayor, and if I had been I would have declined it, I held the position for four years, and have no wish to take it again."

to take it again."
"Did the Mayor intimate whom he would appoint?"
"The Mayor said that he had not offered the "The Mayor said that he had not offered the place to anyone, but that he had conversed with insancial and business men and obtained their views to aid him in fixing on some one who would be acceptable and whom he could appoint. He added that several gentlemen had been strongly recomended to him. Some of these had good bosiness abilities, and others had had long experience in public life. Nevertheless, he doubted whether they could adapt themselves to the duties of the Controller's office, which differed in many respects from those of a business house. I gathered from what the Mayor said that he purposes to appoint a business man, who has shown by his success in managing his own affairs that he possesses good inancial abilities and will thue at the outset command the confidence of the business commandly and taxpayers generally. He will not appoint an active member of a political organization, for the reason that he does not deem the place a political one."

"Do you think this view a correct one?"

"The Mayor's intentions are good. I am of the opinion, however, that the Controller should thoroughly understand our system of municipal government morder wisely to understand the office, I cannot tell how many of our eminently successful business men possess this knowledge, but I am afraid that it is not so well diffused among them as it should be. You will find as a rule that the man who has built up a large business of any kind has not had time to devote to the study of governmental systems."

RESULT OF THE BRADY INQUEST.

The investigation of the death of William F. Brady, who was killed by failing from the One-hundred-and-sixteenth-st, station of the Third Avenue Elevated Road while attempting to get on board a train on July 18, was continued vesterday before Coroner Merkle and a jury. The first witness was James N. Pettit, the ticket agent at the One-hundred-and-sixteenth-st, station, who testined that Brady appeared at the window with a ricind just as the train had stopped at the station. He had some dofficulty in finding the change in his pocket, and when the tickets were hadded to him he snatched them and started for the train. He dropped one of the tickets but did not stop to pick it up. The train had started when he reached it, and Mr. Pettit saw Brady put his hand on the gate and run along the platfors. Winchester, an employe of the company who was on board the train at the time of the accident, said that Brady rushed up and began to shake the gate. He then attempted to jump over, but struck the side of the car and fell back on the platform. Getting up, he ran acongside, and in spite of the remonstrances of the conductor he jumped again as the train was near the end of the patform and fell into the street, George Diefenthaler, a jeweller of No. 368 West Fitty-seventh-st., who was a passenger on the train, corroboloviated the steatmony. Mr. Smith and others of the Grand Jury have taken great interest in the proposal to examine the workings of the Controller's office and have received offers of assistance from experts. Clerks formerly employed in the Con roller's office have made statements that lead some of the members of the Grand Jury to behave that important disclosures might be made by a thorough and complete investigation.

POLICE ACCUSED OF NEGLIGENCE.

The police authorities of Newark are being subjected to criticism owing to negligence shown recently in permitting offenders against the law to escape. Last Flursday a special officer was attacked and stabled by a Jersey City politician who was present with a Democratic delegation from Jersey City at the ball match between members of the Essex and Hudson County Democratic Executive Committees. The assailant was permitted to leave the city unmolested, and the Democratic local papers made no mention of the affair. Thomas Bergen, who brutally assaulted a little girl named Sadle McLaughlin, at noon on Saturday, left the city at daylight on Sunday morning. It is probable that his victim will die. The police assert that the father of the girl made no complaint against Bergen until it was too late to apprehend him in Newgen until it was too late to apprehend him in Newgen and the same and th

THE SHEPARD TRAGEDY.

MORE ABOUT MRS. KELLEY'S HISTORY. LITTLE LIGHT, HOWEVER, THROWN ON THE CAUSE OF THE MURDER AND SUICIDE.

The body of Horace B. Shepard and that of the woman he called his wife, and whom he murdered before he committed suicide at No. 211 West Twenty-second-st., remained yesterday in the undertaker's shop in Twenty-third-st. Many persons asked permission to look at the bodies during the day, and a few recognized the features of the dead woman. Among these few were the woman's oldest son and youngest daughter. They were prostrated by grief. Others who had known her in life related portions of her history, which was a romarkable one. It was said that she was a French Creole, born in the South. When she was young she possessed extraordinary beauty, combined with an extremely vivacious temperament and pelasing manners. She went to St. Louis about thirty years ago and attracted much attention there. Seymour Voullaire, a young lawyer, who afterward attained promisience in his profession and was the District-Attorney of St. Louis, became infatuated with her and married her after a short acquaintance. They hved together happily for nearly ten years. Then Mr. Voullaire learned that his wife had been unfaithful to him, although she was the mother of four children. A reporter of The Missouri Republican named Ruth had become her lover. Mr. Voullaire met Ruth and demanded an explanation. It was said that Ruth attempted to kill Mr. Voullaire, but failed in his attempt and was wounded seriously by the man whom he had wronged.

Mrs. Voullaire was divorced by her busband and afterward married Ruth, who became the Editor of The Lawrence Journal in Kansas. Not long afterward that died from the effects of poison. His wife and Dr. Medlicotte, a physician who had become intimate with the woman, were arrested on a charge of murder. Dr. Medlicotte was conviced and sentenced to be hanged, but on account of a legal technicality he afterward obtained his freedom. The woman was discharged also after she had been kept in prison for a year. Her former husband visited her in prison for a year. Her former husband visited her in prison the model hi

The 'New-York Medical Aid Society, whose avowed purpose is to give relief to decrepit women and sick children, is the organization the peculiar workings of which were exposed by the news, apers of the city sev ral weeks ago. W. J. Bryan, who says that he is a physician, but whose claims are discredited by persons in the profession, is the head and front of the society and the virtual manager of its somewhat varied interests. In a circular which was issued by Bryan, the names of Drs. Alexander Mott, McLane Hamilton and the Rev. Newton Perkins were mentioned as members of the Board of Trustees. Each one of them denied that he had ever heard of the society or this denied that he had ever heard of the society or whose local habitation was not within a hundred miles of the city, and the other five were described as "personal friends of 'Dr.' Bryan, who were intimately connected with hum in business." The chice where the work of this remarkable organization is conducted is at No. 21 East Fourteenth-st, but the tenants in the building denied ever having seen any "decrept women or sick children," for whose aid the society existed, apply for relief.

A few days ago a meeting was hold by Bryan and his friends for the purpose of changing the by-laws of the society, and to refute the charges of fraud which had been brought against it. The iron propeller Ostarara, of the New-York and Baltimore Transportation Line, running between this port and Baltimore, was run into and sunk yesterday in Back Creek, at the entrance to the Chesapeake City. The vessel with which she came into collision was the Eliza, of the Ericason Line, running between Philadelphia and Baltimore. Back Creek, which is an arm of the Delaware River, is about four miles long and 300 vards wide. The water is shallow. The Ostarara left New-York on Saturday with a full cargo and a crew of fourteen. She was commanded by Captain Reynolds. The vessel lies in shallow water and can be raised. She is valued at $30,000. The cargo was insured and no lives, it is thought, were lost.

CAPTAIN ERICSSON'S BIRTHDAY.

Captain Ericsson entered on his eighty-first year vesterday. He passed the day as usual pursuing his regular routine of work in his house in Beach-at. His well-known custom of refusing himself to all visitors save those who wish to see him on important business doubtless prevented his many friends from calling to wish him many happy returns of the day. Mr. Delamater, of the Delamater Iron Works was the only person admitted, and he spent an hour or two with the ectogenarian engineer. Numbers of congratulatory telegrams, however, were received from Sweden and other parts of Europe, and the morning's mail was swollen far beyond its usual limits. It may be mentioned that the solar eugine referred to in last Sunday's Tribung is now actually in working order, and is being daily tested with satisfactory results.

A sub-committee of the Cigar-Makers' Progressive Union was in session all yest-rilay afternoon to receive any possible communication that might be sent from the Cigar alauntacturers' Association, but no communication was received. The manufacturers who are outside of the association see a larger business in store for them it consequence of the lock-out, and are giving employment to a large number of the locked-out workmen. Secretary Woytiseck said that not more than 1,500 members of his union were now out of employment, and that there would be no difficulty in taking care of them for an indefinite period. The manufacturers deny that there are any dissensions in their ranks. They are determined to see the single through, they say, to a successful termination. CLERK OF THE AQUEDUCT COMMISSION.

The sub-committee of the Acqueduct Commission, consisting of Mayor Edson, William Dowd, James C. Spencer and Hubert O. Mr. McCullough was for several years a clerk in the shipping-hense of Howland & Aspinwall. He then went into business for himself as a produce and provision merchant. Then he became a contractor, and built portions of the New-York, Osweso and Midland Railway. When the road went into bankruptcy he was appointed one of the receivers. Since then he has been connected with the Ontario and Western Railway Company, and more recently was employed by the West Shore Railway in procuring the rights of way for the road. He is about fifty years of age. Helwas recommended for the position by Alexander E. Orr, David Dows, Conrad W. Jordan, Benjamin B. Sherman, William A. Booth, J. W. Alexander, J.
